Institute of Medical Sciences & SUM Hospital (Faculty of Medical Sciences, Siksha 'O' Anusandhan)

An Emerging Force in Affordable Health Care Sector in Eastern India

Established in the year of 2006 as a constituent institute of Siksha 'O' Anusandhan, the Institute of Medical Sciences & SUM Hospital has earned the reputation of a most affordable destination in primary, secondary & tertiary healthcare. It is unique in that it combines private efficiency in healthcare at affordable rates. As an institute, it has already carved its own niche in the health care and health education arena of eastern India. It offers MCI approved MBBS, MD, MS, DM and M.Ch. programmes along with the Doctoral & Post-doctoral studies. Additionally, it has become a hub of advanced medical research & clinical trials within a very short span of time. Over the time it has aligned itself in significant community outreach activities ensuring its social responsibilities.

Recognitions

- NABH Accreditation: Faculty of Medical Sciences of SOA has been accredited by 5th Edition of National Accreditation Board for Hospitals & Healthcare Providers (NABH).
- NABL Accreditation: NABL Accredited Medical Laboratories.

COVID-INFECTED YOUTH GETS NEW LEASE OF LIFE AT SUM

BHUBANESWAR : A 20-year-old youth infected with Covid-19 got a new lease of life after undergoing tracheostomy at SUM Covid Hospital here.

Pratiksh Kadambalu of Muniguda in Rayagada district, a Plus III student, was rushed to the hospital for treatment in a serious condition on April 30 after testing positive for the virus. He was taken to the ICU and put on the ventilator.

A tracheostomy was done on him to deliver oxygen to the lungs. The concerted efforts of the doctors, nurses and paramedical staff helped Pratiksh recover and he was shifted to the ward. He tested negative for Covid-19 after about a month and was discharged from the hospital, sources said.

FOCUS ON INCREASING ORGAN DONATIONS

Government and private organisations must combine their efforts for scaling up organ donation which is abysmally low in India, said Padma Shri Dr. Arvinder Singh Soin, an internationally acclaimed liver transplant surgeon, here on Saturday.

Addressing a function organised to mark the World Day for Organ Donation and Transplantation at IMS and Sum Hospital of SOA University, Dr. Soin said: “About 20 liver transplants are needed per one million population. Approximately, 25,000 to 30,000 liver transplantations are required in India.”

ONLY FRAGMENT OF INDIA’S DEMAND FOR ORGAN TRANSPLANTS MET

Over one million people in India suffered irreversible organ failure during 2014, but only a fragment of that number could be provided with organ transplantation as only 3,500 organ donations were recorded during the year.

This piece of statistics can make people suffering from critical ailments sit up. An estimated 9.5 million people die of various reasons every year of whom a large number could have been potential organ donors leading to the saving of scores of lives, Dr. Manoj Kumar Sahu, head of the department of gastroenterology and hepatobiliary sciences at the Institute of Medical Sciences and Sum Hospital (IMSSH), said at an awareness rally organized on the eve of the World Day for Organ Donation and Transplantation.

“Of the large number of people who are on the waiting list to receive an organ, about 15,000 die while awaiting transplantation,” he said at a rally organized by the SOA University to create public awareness about organ donation.

HEPATITIS-B A MUCH BIGGER THREAT THAN HIV/AIDS

Bhubaneswar, July 28: Hepatitis-B kills more people in a day than the Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV) does in a year, but the HIV has got into the public psyche as a much bigger threat, an expert said here on Friday.

“As on date, there are approximately 500 million people affected by the Hepatitis-B virus worldwide of which 15 per cent exist in India. The biggest concern is that 95 per cent of the affected don't even know that they carry the dreaded virus which can cause permanent liver damage," Dr. Manoj Kumar Sahu, Head of the department of Gastroenterology at the Institute of Medical Sciences and SUM Hospital, said.

YOUTH CELEBRATE SPIRIT OF SERVICE IN BHUBANESWAR SLUMS

Bhubaneswar: With the understanding that political engagement comes from participation in the process of creating change in society and with exposure to problems faced by people, Bakul Foundation mobilized hundreds of youth from colleges, schools and IT firms to celebrate the BAKUL Day of Service by visiting 12 slums in Odisha capital and having fun and learning activities with children today.

HUNDREDS OF YOUTH TO CELEBRATE THE SPIRIT OF SERVICE IN CITY SLUMS

Bhubaneswar: There is a lot of buzz around urban slums and youth as 2 critical constituencies in the run-up to the elections. While everyone is talking about the significant role that will be played by youth, and the over 2 crore first time voters in the Indian elections, one also often decries the supposed lack of political engagement of middle class youth in the cities. What aids the disengagement is also a perception that at least in the cities, the electoral outcomes are mostly decided in the slums and the votes of middle class youth do not really count.

NOT FACILITIES BUT MINDSET DEFINES A SMART CITY'

A Smart City is not about wide roads, beautiful landscapes, an efficient drainage system and better traffic; it is the mindset of the people living there which defines its character, an eminent social worker said here.

“Safety of women and attention given to the handicapped and underprivileged decide how smart a city is. It is not about branded clothes, the shade of a girl's lipstick or the brand of a boy's shaving cream,” Namrata Chadha, a former Member of the State Women's Commission, said while speaking at a workshop held to create awareness against gender discrimination at the SOA University on Saturday.

ENTIRE INDIAN COAST TO BE COVERED BY DOPPLER RADAR NETWORK BY 2019-20: IMD CHIEF

India is set to bring its entire coast under the coverage of Doppler Weather Radar (DWR) network for cyclone monitoring by 2019-20.

BHUBANESWAR: With climate change and global warming triggering unforeseen changes in the weather across the globe, India is set to bring its entire coast under the coverage of Doppler Weather Radar (DWR) network for cyclone monitoring by 2019-20, KJ Ramesh , Director General of the India Meteorological Department (IMD), said here on Tuesday.

Ramesh, who delivered a presentation at TROPMET 2016, elaborated how the country is undertaking a huge upgradation of its weather forecasting technology. From DWR to environmental monitoring, the Centre is shifting gears in a major way to cover all areas. The 11 S-band cyclone detection radars along the coast have been replaced by the Doppler radars in a phased manner, and soon DWR network will cover the entire coastline of the country.

‘NEED DIFFERENT STRATEGIES FOR ODISHA COAST TO DEAL WITH SEA SURGE’

An eminent climatologist here on Sunday called for different strategies to deal with emergency situations following super cyclones in future as the extreme weather would have varied degree of impact on Odisha coastline.

“In case a super cyclone strikes Odisha, the sea surge at Gopalpur in Ganjam district could be two to three metres high while Chandipur in Balasore district could witness waves of five to seven metres height. This means you could not have a uniform strategy for the entire coast of Odisha, which has to be based on much observation and planning,” said Professor Uma Charan Mohanty, Professor at the School of Earth, Ocean and Climate Sciences, IIT-Bhubaneswar.

TOP HONOURS FOR ODIAS IN CIVIL SERVICES EXAM

Others who made it to top ranks included Lingaraj Panda (38th), Kranthi Kumar Pati (50th), Prabhat Mallick (68th), Smrutiranjana Mohanty (87th), Sandip Kumar Mallik (102nd), Arunanshu Giri (133rd), Avishek Tripathy (151st), Soumya Mishra (177th), Padmini Sahoo (199th), Susant Kumar Mishra (237th), Ashis Kumar Panda (276th) and Satarupa Mishra (303rd).

Abdaal, a graduate from NALSAR Law University, Hyderabad, cracked the UPSC in his second attempt.

Speaking to Express, Abdaal said he was delighted to have secured a rank below 40 in the all-India list in the second attempt. “Some of my seniors at NALSAR who cleared Civil Services motivated me to take the UPSC exams. Besides, my parents have always been an inspiration and the hidden force behind my success,” Abdaal said. He is the son of Additional Member of the Railway Board Muhammed Akhtar.

Pamela, an Assistant Professor with School of Nursing of SOA University, made it to the list in her fourth attempt. She had secured a rank for the Allied Services last year but took the test again and achieved what she had always wanted to.
